A fragment of a papyrus scroll, likely from the Voynich manuscript, showing a circular diagram. The diagram consists of a central vertical line and two diagonal lines forming a triangle, all set against a background of horizontal hatching. The fragment is irregular and appears to be a piece of a larger scroll.

SIDEWALK OBSTRUCTIONS AGAIN.

Messrs. Editors:—Aged persons are apt to regard the majority of young people as not always so refined and polite in their language and manners as persons advanced in years. But it is something new in the history of every-day life when young women passing along our streets are embarrassed at the mere "gaze" of young men. Why do these troops of fascinating girls, or women, continue hour after hour to promenade the sidewalks of Purchase street, our miniature Washington street or Broadway, if the object is not to be gazed at by the young men there assembled, and to gaze at them? The lady "without specs" must remember that the oldest ladies were once young, and that they still remember how sweet were the hours passed in the society of the opposite sex. But she gives a new phrase to the affair of the arrest and fine of young Devoll when she hints that he was removed not so much for obstructing his father's doorway, as for giving a "significant stare" to a young woman who didn't like it.

"Without specs" seems to interpret the new City Ordinance regarding sidewalk obstructions rather too strictly, as in Chap. XXVI, page 115, section 6, it reads to the effect that no person shall behave in a rude and disorderly manner, or remain near any building "to the annoyance or disturbance of any person," etc.

It appears from this law that the simple word "annoyance" may prove the trap that will catch young Devoll; or, if any person comes forward and states that his mere presence on his father's premises was an "annoyance," the law can hold him to the penalty.

If one in ten of the sections of the thirty-odd chapters of the City Ordinances are to be carried out faithfully for the benefit of the public, it will be requisite for the city not only to fix and pay the salary of the deputy-chief, but to double the whole police brigade, and then enforce all the laws without fear or favor, and make our beautiful New Bedford the model city of Massachusetts. THE OLD LADY IN SPECS.

THE SEED PEDDLER. 24

Messrs. Editors:—"The seed peddler," to whom allusion was made in your issue last Friday morning, has left with many of our citizens a full confirmation of his deliberate villany. All his statements made prove to have been false in regard to his place of residence, his name, and his employers. His assumed name in his own handwriting (admirably done) is George F. Haughton, Medford, Mass., P. O. Box 84. He is not only a proficient in writing, but in his arithmetical calculations. He has an impediment in his speech, and is about 21 years of age. He has dark hair, and his height is about 5 feet 8 inches. He has good address and an intelligent countenance. He left the city last Thursday afternoon train towards Boston, without paying his bill of board, although just before leaving he had received from one of his sufferers $10. His youth and his qualifications, could they be properly employed, and this notice should reach him, or perhaps his suffering family, means might be successfully availed of, to bring him to a conviction of his degraded condition, and arrest him in his rapid journey towards a felon's cell.

ACUSHNET AVENUE.

Messrs. Editors:—Having seen no notice of any official proceedings relative to the continuation of the work of macadamizing this road, permit me to suggest to those into whose charge it legally comes, as early attention to it as possible, the unfinished portion, that between the north side, or foot of Hathaway hill, having been neglected for several years in anticipation of the proposed work, so that the road is almost, if not quite, in an indictable state, being very difficult for loaded teams, as well as heavy and uncomfortable for the travelling public generally. As this is one of our greatest thoroughfares, and the favorite drive of our citizens, it seems to be a matter that no urging should be required to consummate the desired object the present season. Our new Superintendent could not have a better opportunity to show his ability and interest in the public good, than by giving his attention to the accomplishment of this work.

In behalf of the petitioners and the public.

OFFICIAL AWARDS

United States Centennial Commission, }
International Exhibition, 1876, Phila. }
The United States Centennial Commission announce the following report as the basis of an award to the Singer Manufacturing Company, Elizabeth, N. J., for family Sewing Machine:

REPORT—A shuttle sewing-machine, embodying the following points of construction, viz.: A needle-bar operated directly from the end of a rotating shaft in the over-hanging arm; a shuttle supported in a shuttle-carrier, moved transversely to the feed by means of a crank on a rotating shaft; a four-motioned, positive feed, and a straight needle, with its eye parallel with the direction of the feed.

For the following reasons: A superior family machine, embodying the greatest number of most approved mechanical devices to impart positive motions to the various parts, simplicity of construction, good workmanship, excellent quantity and quality of work done, originality, and for completeness of display:

Barth. Francis Journal to Noctisignus

May 29 Part away for Rodriguez
and had good weather
across we arrived in the whaling ground the 22 day of June
and the wind was blowing pretty strong when got here
went into Rodriguez on the 25th to stop the leak but could not do anything with it
the Schooner Wizard of Mauritius for do. This is very rainy weather in this part of the world
on the 29 Henry Head scrubbed
the gally and did not ride the island off (old ground)
